Continued Examination Under 37 CFR 1.114

1. A request for continued examination under 37 CFR 1.114, including the fee set forth in 37 CFR 1.17(e), was filed in this application after final rejection. Since this application is eligible for continued examination under 37 CFR 1.114, and the fee set forth in 37 CFR 1.17(e) has been timely paid, the finality of the previous Office action has been withdrawn pursuant to 37 CFR 1.114. Applicant's submission filed on 4/10/06 has been entered.

Response to Amendment

2. Applicant's arguments filed 4/10/06 have been fully considered but they are not persuasive, Applicant on the response filed on 4/10/06 argues the point that Costello does not describe the integration or combination of the job separator page into the actual print job, but simply discloses a method for sending a job separator page to the same destination as the separator of the print job. The main point of client argument is that the separator sheet would not be inserted with in the whole document or print job as mentioned on pages 7-9. However, Examiner points out that in fact Costello on column 1 lines 25-30 teaches the way the banner sheet or separator in this case would be automatically inserted before or after the printing of the first or the last sheet, which would make this print job the integrated print job combined with the separator sheet.

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 102

3. The following is a quotation of the appropriate paragraphs of 35 U.S.C. 102 that form the basis for the rejections under this section made in this Office action:

A person shall be entitled to a patent unless –

(b) the invention was patented or described in a printed publication in this or a foreign country or in public use or on sale in this country, more than one year prior to the date of application for patent in the United States.

4. Claims 1, 6, 8, 10-16 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 102(b) as being anticipated by Costello (U.S. patent 5,547,178)

Regarding claim 1 and 12-16 A method for combining a print job separator page and a print job into a single, integrated print job (note column 1 lines 25-30 where the banner sheet or separator in this case would be automatically inserted before or after the printing of the first or the last sheet, which would make this print job the integrated print job combined with the separator sheet) said method comprising: receiving an original print job at a print system component; analyzing said original print job with said print system component to identify print job characteristics to be included on a print job separator page (note column 15 lines and specifically lines 27-35 where the printer controller in combination with the signal from the mailbox processor create a banner sheet, such information for example would be the job identification information, the specific job description information would be automatically inserted to the banner sheet which there on would be inserted in the print job, lines 29-34) and creating a single integral print job comprising said original print job and a

said print job separator page (note again, column 1 lines 25-30 where the banner sheet or separator in this case would be automatically inserted before or after the printing of the first or the last sheet, which would make this print job the integrated print job combined with the separator sheet).

Regarding claim 6 Costello discloses: The method of claim 1 further comprising sending said single integral print job to a printer (note column 15 lines 37-42).

Regarding claim 8 Costello discloses: The method of claim 1 wherein said creating comprises adding data for said print job separator page to said original print job (note column 15 lines 37-47).

Regarding claim 10 Costello discloses: The method of claim 1 wherein said single integral print job comprises said original print job preceded by a job separator page that identifies said original print job (note column 15 lines 29-31).

Regarding claim 11 Costello discloses: The method of claim 1 wherein said print job separator page comprises a summary of characteristics of said original print job (note Fig.8, also note column 14 lines 32-34).

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 103

5. The following is a quotation of 35 U.S.C. 103(a) which forms the basis for all obviousness rejections set forth in this Office action:

(a) A patent may not be obtained though the invention is not identically disclosed or described as set forth in section 102 of this title, if the differences between the subject matter sought to be patented and the prior art are such that the subject matter as a whole would have been obvious at the time the invention was made to a person having ordinary skill in the art to which said subject matter pertains. Patentability shall not be negated by the manner in which the invention was made.

6. Claims 2-5 , 7 and 9 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 103(a) as being unpatentable over Costello (U.S. patent 5,547,178) in view of Snipp (U.S patent 5,699,495)

Regarding claim 2 Costello does not clearly discloses: The method of claim 1 wherein said print system component is a print processor. On the other hand Snipp discloses: The method of claim 1 wherein said print system component is a print processor (note Fig.2 item 34, where a print processor field 116 holds a pointer to a string that specifies the name of the print processor that is used by the printer, column 6 lines 54-67). Therefore it would have been obvious to a person of ordinary skill in art at the time of the invention to modify Costello's invention according to the teaching of Snipp, where Snipp teaches the way the separator sheet is processed through the component printer process

Regarding claim 3 Snipp discloses: The method of claim 1 wherein said print system component is a spooler (note Fig.2 item 40)

Regarding claim 4 Snipp discloses: The method of claim 1 wherein said print system component is a print assistant (note Fig.2 item 38A, printer driver which assist on the process).

Regarding claim 5 Snipp discloses: The method of claim 1 wherein said print system component is located on a print server (note Fig.2 items 40 and 34 the spooler and print processor).

Art Unit: 2626

Regarding claim 7 Snipp discloses: The method of claim 1 further comprising sending said combined print job to a print server (note column 6 lines 57-62).

Regarding claim 9 Snipp discloses: The method of claim 1 wherein said creating comprises creating a new print job file comprising data for said print job separator page and said original print job (please note column 5 lines 53-67 and column 6 lines 1-6).
